104. Obituary, Edgeley Mail, 28 Sep 1961 - John (Jack) Fenno, John Clarence Fenno was born in LaMoure County, Nov. 10, 1891, to pioneer parents Mary Tuttle and Horace Gibson Fenno. He grew to manhood in the Berlin community, attended the local schools and later Berea College in Kentucky and Concordia College in Moorhead, Minn. He was for a time engaged in the hardware business in Berlin with his brother, Edmund. He worked for a time as a well driller in the community. In 1929 he came to Edgeley where he has ever since been in business....Jack, as he was familiarly known to all, was a well-known figure in his town where he had been active in the civic and political life of his community for many years. He served on the City Council 24 years, was a past patron of local Eastern Star chapter and for many years an active member of the Masonic Lodge. He was a member of the Berlin Methodist Church until he recently transferred his membership to the Edgeley church. For three years he was Den Dad for the Cub Scout den to which his son, Kent, belonged.

117. Ruth Herbig, Gilbert Descendants, (1994 -), Speculation About Henry Gilbert, The area where Henry Gilbert was born was not yet a part of the United States - so the records are sketchy at best. I am still pursuing leads. My conjecture at the moment is this: Henry's oldest son was named Nicholis (after his wife's father), Warren (traditionally after his father). In Missouri, I find a Warner Gilbert living in the same area where Sample Journey came from. The name Sample is a family name as is Journey. You remember that Sample journey was Henry Gilbert's partner in his mining ventures. Family stories tell that the Gilberts came from the Louisiana area where they owned a plantation and slaves. In LaFourche Parish on the bayou of LaFourche, in Louisiana, there was a Walker Gilbert who owned a large amount of land.

119. Speculative, There is a Walker Gilbert, wife Constans Lazar, that had a son Henry Gilbert born 7 Sep 1812 and baptised on 18 Dec 1814 in the Ascension Church, Donaldsville, LA. Siblings were William Lloyd Gilbert (b. 15 Feb 1815, bp. 4 Apr 1815); and Jean Baptiste Gilbert (b. 8 Apr 1818, bp. 12 Jul 1818). Walker was a native of Connecticut and the son of Butler Gilbert and Abigail Woudhouse and Constance Lessard was the daughter of Jean Baptiste Lessard, dec'd and Marie Lourot - Walker and Constance married 11 Feb 1810 with witnesses being her mother, his brother Butler; Damas Lessard; Edouard Duffel, Pierre Cyr. Marriage in Ascension Church, Donaldsonville, LA. Butler married Clemence Lessard - sister of Constance. Walker was a surveyor in that area and he owned significant tracts of land.

Thank you for this excellent information. I am very happy to receive it. How is your wife related to this line? I may have a bit more information now than when I posted, quite some time ago. I have an 1850 US Federal census image from New York (Steuben County, Jasper Township, image 32 of 42) that lists William R. Jones (age 32, born in New Jersey), wife Rachael (age 26, born in New York) and children Francis (age 6) and Mary A (age 1). I am curious what befell Francis. The next household listed is Morgan Benaway (age 29) and the next household after that is Ezekiel Benaway and wife (hard to read, maybe...) Annis. As I mentioned, Rachel's maiden name was Benaway; I presume these are her brother and parents, respectively. I have a wonderful photograph of the Hattie, Mattie, Carrie, and Ida which I would be willing to share if you are interested. My grandmother, now age 93, was raised by Carrie and her husband Noah and has many recollections of this family that I will also share if you are interested. I just saw her this weekend; she traveled with my father from Michigan to Wisconsin to visit. You may email me at superkins@aol.com.

NOTE- Morgan Benway was the grantee to a land sale in 1862 by William and Rachel.

I had some but not all of this information.

-----Thank you for this excellent information. I am very happy to receive it. How is your wife related to this line? I may have a bit more information now than when I posted, quite some time ago. I have an 1850 US Federal census image from New York (Steuben County, Jasper Township, image 32 of 42) that lists William R. Jones (age 32, born in New Jersey), wife Rachael (age 26, born in New York) and children Francis (age 6) and Mary A (age 1). I am curious what befell Francis. The next household listed is Morgan Benaway (age 29) and the next household after that is Ezekiel Beneway and wife (hard to read, maybe...) Annis. As I mentioned, Rachel's maiden name was Beneway; I presume these are her brother and parents, respectively. I have a wonderful photograph of the Hattie, Mattie, Carrie, and Ida which I would be willing to share if you are interested. My grandmother, now age 93, was raised by Carrie and her husband Noah and has many recollections of this family that I will also share if you are interested. I just saw her this weekend; she traveled with my father from Michigan to Wisconsin to visit. You may email me at superkins@aol.com.

She married Noah B. "Nathan" Hembling and had two children, Hazel Evelyn Hembling Tolan and Ralph Hembling. After Hazel's death, Carrie and Noah raised several of their Tolan grandchildren and step-grandchildren, including my grandmother, Arlotta Evelyn Tolan Fisher Perkins. Carrie had several siblings, all of whom lived during their adult years in Michigan: Harriet (Hattie), Martha (Mattie), Mary (married name Washburn), Ida (married name Kenney), George and Llewellyn. My grandmother says that they all were excellent musicians and four of the girls (all but Mary) formed a quartet that sang all over Michigan and were well-known and well sought-after. Noah died about 1923; Carrie died about 1929, both probably in Caledonia, Kent County, Michigan. Any additional information appreciated.

Mary was the widow of James McCorkle. Mary had five children, Alfred, John, Wilson, Emily, and William. Soon after John and Mary were married, they moved to Cato Township, Manotowac County, Wisconsin. There their first child, Horace Gibson Fenno, was born on May 16, 1855. Mary and John Fenno moved to Greenleaf, Wrightstown Township, Brown County. They had three more children, George, Olive, and Francis (later called Frank). An interesting fact, the land they owned was in Mary's name. Probably this is because she had been widowed once, and is now married to a man somewhat older than she.

264. Correspondence of Orrena Buchner Hanley, (Exchange of letters with Ruth Herbig - Mar-Aug 1985; 510 Salem Avenue, Toronto, Ontario, M6H 3E1), I am not sure but it would appear that our Nicholas Phillips who was born 1784 and who died July 6, 1862 was not a son of the older Nicholas but was instead a grandson. Of course I can't prove it. Had he been a son, he would have received a grant of land but instead went up to Bayham Township, Elgin County, where he got land from Col. Thomas Talbot of the Talbot Settlement. He was given 59 [acres] free but had to buy the other 150 acres. Of course he had to do settlement duties in order to receive this land. He had to have been a son of either Jacob or Nicholas, Jr.

267. Ruth Herbig, Gilbert Descendants, (1994 -), Nicholis Phillips Story Nicholis Phillips was from a family who lived in the Tunkhannock area of New York, about 40 miles from Wyoming on the Susquehanna River. When the Revolutionary War started, the Phillips family took the side of the British as did the majority of the Colonists. The father, Nicholis Phillips and his sons were captured and confined for eighteen months in 5 different jails, ending up in Hartford, Connecticut. They escaped from that Jail and joined Butler's Rangers in 1777. Nicholis Phillips and his sons were given land in Ontario. Nicholis Phillips, Sr. returned after the war to Genesee County, where he died. The Nicholis Phillips of Guysboror is his son. He lived first at Ancaster, just west of Toronto. He moved by ox team to Guysboro. The town of Guysboro does not exist anymore, but the cemetery where Nicholis is buried is large and well-tended and his stone is prominent. He was one of the first settlers of that area. It is just south of the town of Tilsonburg, not too far from Lake Erie. Nichols married twice. First to Hannah by whom he had eight children. She died with the eight, and that girl was named Hannah. He next married Effie by whom he had five children."

269. Correspondence of Orrena Buchner Hanley, (Exchange of letters with Ruth Herbig - Mar-Aug 1985; 510 Salem Avenue, Toronto, Ontario, M6H 3E1), 20 Mar 1985 letter, We don't know who Nicholas' first wife was and no doubt he got her in West Flamboro township seeing my Matthew was born there. Tradition says he had seven children by that wife and that her name was Hannah. Hannah is said to have died two days after her baby, Hannah, was born. There is an unmarked grave in the cemetery beside Nicholas and likely it is hers, but there is no stone..

270. 1851 Census, transcribed and indexed by the Elgin County Branch of the Ontario Genealogical Society. Courtesy of Jim McCallum - Chair (mccallum@cyg.net), In 1851, Nicholas Phillips is found in Division 2, page 42. He is a farmer, age 68, married. Wife - Effey, born Ontario, age 57. Living with them are Henry, age 26, Abraham, age 23, Lewis, age 21, Peter, age 14 and J. Ann, age 18. All are born in Ontario and Wesleyan Methodist in religion. The Agricultural census for that year shows N. Phillips on lot 135, concession 7.

"100 Years of Marriages of Trumbull County 1800-1900" The books were just received by the library late in 1999. One of the Volumes had not even had the binding opened yet. Well even though I knew Noah and Rebecca were probably in there and that I didn't even have to look, I thought that I would take a glance, just to make sure. I couldn't believe my eyes. Right next to the record of their marriage was Rebecca's father's consent. I couldn't believe it. All this time I always said I would believe if I only could find her and her father's name on the same document. Well I believe. "Joel Downs gives consent." "But if they were in a hurry to leave that may account for why they didn't sell it or sold it for cheap and that would account for why Noah was so poor and was buried in the "poor shepherds ground." "Also, I have Rebecca being born in NY and also Samuel being born in NY. Do you know where in NY they might have been born? Did I tell you that I made contact with Martha Ann's descendants. Martha Ann was the youngest daughter of Noah and Rebecca Dunbar. They have Martha Ann's husband's journal and it has written all of the other childrens names and birth dates of Noah and Rebecca and als that Rebecca was born in 1803. Obituary Notice in "The True Republic" (July 27, 1880) of Neillsville, Clark County, WI: Mr. Rensaler TUTTLE, aged 93 years, 10 months and 28 days, died at the residence of his son, in the town of Weston, July 15, 1880. Mr. TUTTLE was born in Connecticut. He lived many years in Ohio, and came to Clark county about 7 years ago. He leaves two children, a large number of grand children, and a goodly number of great grandchildren. Funeral services took place at the Hyslip school house last Saturday forenoon, and were attended by many friends and relatives of the deceased. Rev. W. T. Henren conducted the services. The age of 93-nearly 94 years, is more than the common measure of life. Indeed, we believe Mr. TUTTLE was, with one or two exceptions, the oldest person in the county. .

At the age of 21 he was married in Fond du Lac County, Sept. 27, 1855, to Charlotte M. Tuttle. It was in the year 1870 that they removed to Clark County, locating on a tract of wild land Weston Township residing there until about 1910 or 1911. Mr. Raymond then retired and moved to Granton, where his death occurred Jan. 20 ' 1916. When he first came to Weston Township there was only a foot path to his land, and the Indians were plentiful in the vicinity. It was two years before he and his wife got a cow. He became a prominent citizen of his township and served as school officer. His wife, Charlotte, was born in Euclid, Ohio, Feb. 10, 1836, and at the age of three years removed with her parents to Licking County, Ohio. She was 18 when the family moved to Fond du Lac County. She now resides with the subject of this sketch, Mr. Fradette. For many years she has been a faithful member of the Methodist Church, as was also her husband. Her parents were Rensselear and Clarissa (Crozier) Tuttle. Mrs. Edna Fradette, like her mother, is a member of the Methodist Church, which she has served as deaconess and as a teacher in the Sunday school. She was graduated from the Christi school, also attending school at Neillsviue, and was a teacher for four years in Weston Township and Hewitsville, Clark County. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Fradette are: Clare Wesley, born June 15, 1909; Carol Idele, born Aug. 14, 1911; Herbert Raymond, born June 6, 1913, and June Rose, born June 15, 1916. 403. Speculative, Courtesy of Carol Van Ham - carolvanham@yahoo.ca, Based upon this - and the death date given on Nicholas Phillips, husband of Hannah then Effie/Eve, I am of the belief that this is probably the Nicholas Phillips below.

- And also the Nicholas Phillips, Jr. noted in the records of the Continental Congress as being imprisoned in 1778. The Ontario Register Vol 1., pg 204 - Niagara Census 1783. Return of persons under the description of Loyalists in Captain Peter TenBroeck's Company of the Corp of Rangers, Niagara Nov 30 1783: Phillips, Nicholas - 27 yrs Phillips, Mrs. - 19 yrs.
404. Ruth Herbig, Gilbert Descendants, (1994 -), Nicholas Phillips Story Nicholas Phillips was from a family who lived in the Tunkhannock area of New York, about 40 miles from Wyoming on the Susquehanna River. When the Revolutionary War started, the Phillips family took the side of the British as did the majority of the Colonists. The father, Nicholas Phillips and his sons were captured and confined for eighteen months in 5 different jails, ending up in Hartford, Connecticut. They escaped from that Jail and joined Butler's Rangers in 1777. Nicholas Phillips and his sons were given land in Ontario. Nicholas Phillips, Sr. returned after the war to Genesee County, where he died. The Nicholas Phillips of Guysboror is his son. He lived first at Ancaster, just west of Toronto. He moved by ox team to Guysboro. The town of Guysboro does not exist anymore, but the cemetery where Nicholas is buried is large and well-tended and his stone is prominent. He was one of the first settlers of that area. It is just south of the town of Tilsonburg, not too far from Lake Erie. Nichols married twice. First to Hannah by whom he had eight children. She died with the eight, and that girl was named Hannah. He next married Effie by whom he had five children."

Nicolas Phillippe the elder petitioned for land but before he could receive it returned to Genesee Country (likely upper New York State) where he died. He had three sons and a daughter, wife of Benjamin Davis who came to Canada with him. No mention of a wife so she was probably dead. I am sure of the names of two of the sons: Nicholas and Jacob and the daughter's name was Elizabeth. She gave that information in her petition for land. The children of Loyalists could apply for land. The name of the third son may have been Richard. I know that the son, Jacob, petition to have his father's land grant given to him and he got it.

443. E-mail, Dunkley, Diane [ddunkley@dar.org], Dear Mr. Fleck: The current museum exhibit is based on a book produced by the NSDAR library and genealogy departments, listing minority patriots state by state. The Massachusetts listing includes Joshua Dunbar, black; and Samuel Dunbar, mulatto. Both names are referenced to Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolutionary War, published in Boston 1896-1906 (17 vols.) Joshua was noted as being from Bridgewater & Hingham, and Samuel from Braintree. Both names are included in our exhibition in a section that lists all the names from the DAR book. Unfortunately, we don't have anything else that refers to them. As you can imagine, finding portraits of these patriots was quite difficult, and finding objects connected to a particular person even tougher. Our exhibition will be up through August. I hope you can come and see it. If not, you can purchase a copy of the DAR book African American and American Indian Patriots of the Revolutionary War through our museum shop. I am sending a copy of this e-mail, and yours, to Eric Grundset, DAR Library director and the editor and one of the authors of the book. Diane Dunkley, Director, DAR Museum.

460. E-mail, Rick Wall rickwall@aol.com, Jonathan died 16 April 1833 in Southington, Trumbull, Ohio. He was a revolutionary war pensioner. He was married to Martha Hayward (Howard) 15 Dec 1733 in Douglas, Worch, Mass. She was b 4 Aug 1754 Mendon, Worch, Mass and died after 1833 Townsend Windham, Vt. She claimed the pension at his death as his first wife. She was living with one of her daughters in Townsend, Windam, VT at the time. Jonathan was married at his death to Chloe Clark Walden, relic of Elisha Walden which interestingly enough makes him a bigamist. His will mentions only Lois and Joel. He and Martha had at least 4 children. 513. E-mail, George R. Price - George Price [dxn3572@blackfoot.net], Sampson Dunbar died August 15, 1804, and was listed as "black" in the death record (FHL microfilm #0932776, "Stoughton births, marriages, and deaths, 1717-1860", item 3, page 14). In most records Sampson was referred to as a "mulatto", and sometimes no racial designation was given, which was usually the case for "white" persons. It was not at all unusual for persons of mixed race to be referred to by different racial labels for the same person on different records. Indians or mixed Afro-Indians were often referred to as "mulattoes", "negroes", and even as "blacks" in early Massachusetts records. Frequent intermarriage between Afro-Americans and American Indians in the 17th through 19th centuries in Massachusetts was due largely to what historian Daniel Mandell called a "complimentary gender imbalance"- a surplus of Afro males complemented by a surplus of Indian women due to more male Africans being enslaved than females, and Indian males being killed, captured and sold into Caribbean slavery during the colonial era Indian wars. (See, Mandell, Daniel R. "Shifting Boundaries of Race and Ethnicity: Indian-Black Intermarriage in Southern New England, 1760-1880", Journal of American History, September, 1998). An excellent book that deals with the topic of racial labelling of mixed black, Indian, and white people in the colonial era is Forbes, Jack D. Africans and Native Americans: The Language of Race and the Evolution of Red-Black Peoples (Chicago, University of Illinois Press, 1993).

517. E-mail, George Price [dxn3572@blackfoot.net], Patience Crouch was baptized Nov. 5, 1732, by Rev. Shearjashub Bourn, in a Congregational church in Scituate, Massachusetts. Her mother's name was Mary. (FHL microfilm # 0496902, "Vital Records of Scituate, Massachusetts, 1633-1850, births, pg.99, 435, film # 0369741, "History of Scituate, Massachusetts", pg. 186, and IGI individual record for Crouch, Patience). No parents are mentioned for her in the Vital Records, but the IGI has her mother listed as "Mary Crouch". There are also no other persons with the surname Crouch listed in any of these birth records for Scituate, but in the separate category for births of "Negroes", there is "Mary, negro, daughter of Meriah, May 4, 1708", which would make her about the right age to be the mother of Patience.

He was born in East Windsor, Connecticut on September 24, 1778. When he was five, his family moved to Orwell, Vermont and later to Ticonderoga, New York. In 1796 at age 18, he started west on foot to work with his friend, Sam Spafford, and Sam's father, Amos, on a surveying job in Cleveland, Ohio. They were delayed in Schenectady having to wait more than a month for a boat to carry them west on Lake Ontario. Too restless to sit around, Oliver hiked as far west as Irondequoit Bay, arriving at the Indian Landing on Irondequoit Creek in March 1796. There, he hunted and fished, and his only human contact was with a family of squatters headed by Asa Dunbar..

535. [history2@rochester.rr.com], Brighton Historian - Mary Jo. Lanphear, Asa Dunbar was a settler on Irondequoit Creek, not Irondequoit Bay, and he was not in the town of Webster. Webster wasn't created until 1840 from the northern part of the town of Penfield. Asa was in the town of Brighton on the west side of the Creek. He was not in the town of Irondequoit, as some sources cite, because that town wasn't formed until 1839. Irondequoit Bay, which leads from Lake Ontario becomes Irondequoit Creek as it narrows and approaches the Irondequoit Landing (also called Gerundegat Landing in early accounts)..

He seved under George Washington as a fortificationsengineer. IN 1780 he left his Wampanoag neighbors, seeking opportunitiesof capitalism that citizens had always enjoyed but from which indigenouspeople had been customarily and legislatively excluded. He settled in NorthBridgewater (now Brockton, Massachusetts), a town with very few residents ofcolor, married in 1783, and took up the skilled craft of ironworking as hisprofession. James Easton's wife, Sarah, was the daughter of Sampson Dunbar,a respected citizen of Braintree and later of Stoughton, Massachusetts. Inmost civil records Sampson Dunbar is referred to as a "mulatto" but inothers he receives no racial designation, suggesting that some local clerkpossibly regarded him as "white". Much of the iron work for the Tremont Theatread Boston Marine Railway was executed under his supervision. Mr. Eastonwas self-educated. When a young man, stipulating for work, he alwaysprovided for chance of evening study. He was welcome to the businesscircles of Boston as a man of strict integrity, and the many who resorted tohim for advice in complicated matters styled him "the Black Lawyer." Hissons, Caleb, Joshua, Sylvanus, and Hosea, inherited his mechanical genuisand mental ability.The family were victims, however, to the spirt of colorphobia, the rampantin New England, and were persecuted even to the dragging out of some of thefamily from the Orthodox Church, in which, on it senlargement, a porch hadbeen erected, exclusively for colored people. After this disgracefuloccurrence, the Easton's left the church. They afterwards purchased a pewin the Baptist church at Stoughton Corner, which excited a great deal ofindignation. Not succeeding in their attempt to have the bargain cancelled,the people tarred the pew. The next Sunday, the family carried seats in thewagon. The pew was then pulled down; but the family sat in the aisle.These indignities were continued until the separation of the family."

He was born in East Windsor, Connecticut on September 24, 1778. When he was five, his family moved to Orwell, Vermont and later to Ticonderoga, New York. In 1796 at age 18, he started west on foot to work with his friend, Sam Spafford, and Sam's father, Amos, on a surveying job in Cleveland, Ohio. They were delayed in Schenectady having to wait more than a month for a boat to carry them west on Lake Ontario. Too restless to sit around, Oliver hiked as far west as Irondequoit Bay, arriving at the Indian Landing on Irondequoit Creek in March 1796. There, he hunted and fished, and his only human contact was with a family of squatters headed by Asa Dunbar..

When the town fails to prosper, Dunbar, who served the local community as city attorney, eventually moves his family to Canada. Rochester.

572. [history2@rochester.rr.com], Brighton Historian - Mary Jo. Lanphear, Asa Dunbar was a settler on Irondequoit Creek, not Irondequoit Bay, and he was not in the town of Webster. Webster wasn't created until 1840 from the northern part of the town of Penfield. Asa was in the town of Brighton on the west side of the Creek. He was not in the town of Irondequoit, as some sources cite, because that town wasn't formed until 1839. Irondequoit Bay, which leads from Lake Ontario becomes Irondequoit Creek as it narrows and approaches the Irondequoit Landing (also called Gerundegat Landing in early accounts)..

596. E-mail, Rick Wall rickwall@aol.com, Jonathan died 16 April 1833 in Southington, Trumbull, Ohio. He was a revolutionary war pensioner. He was married to Martha Hayward (Howard) 15 Dec 1733 in Douglas, Worch, Mass. She was b 4 Aug 1754 Mendon, Worch, Mass and died after 1833 Townsend Windham, Vt. She claimed the pension at his death as his first wife. She was living with one of her daughters in Townsend, Windam, VT at the time. Jonathan was married at his death to Chloe Clark Walden, relic of Elisha Walden which interestingly enough makes him a bigamist. His will mentions only Lois and Joel. He and Martha had at least 4 children. Daniel Mansfield b 13 Aug 1773 Douglas, Worch, Mass, Elizabeth Mansfield b 22 May 1776 Douglas, Worch, Mass, Susanne b 23 Dec 1777 Douglas Worch, Mass, Arminadab (m) b 29 Jul 1785, New Fane, Windam, Vt, m Fanny Prentice 10 Sept 1807, Watertown, Middlesex, Mass. He also fathered Lois Mansfield b 21 May 1786, probably Hartford, Wash, NY, married Joel Downs bef 1810 prob Hartford, and died 23 Dec 1872 Warren, Trumbull, Ohio. It is through Lois and Joel, that we are related to Jonathan. The Census of 1790 (1 m > 16, 2 F) does not seem to support the presence of Martha and the other 4 children (ages 16, 14, 13, 5). If you need any more information, I probably have it. TrishSources are: Article Western Reserve Chronicle 25 Ap 1833 161, VR Douglas, Worch,
